Organ Transplant
Engineers are faced with issues that require the ability to use scientific fact to back up an ethical viewpoint. In this module, students will look at animal to human organ transplant and the pros and cons regarding this kind of organ transplant in order to construct an ethical argument.