AWIS
ASSOCIATION FOR WOMEN IN SCIENCE AT UT

Unite. Empower. Lead.

AWIS is a global network that inspires women in STEM to be bold leaders, to advance women in STEM, and to drive systemic change. AWIS at UT is committed to locally supporting and advocating for the full engagement of women in the sciences, with a particular interest in career development. We invite interested corporate partners to help us advance this cause.

AWIS ACCOMPLISHED-SCIENTIST SEMINAR Female leaders speak about their accomplishments and experiences with the goal of empowering women to both develop professionally and advance social progress in the sciences

- ~75-100 people in attendance including undergraduate, graduate students, faculty, and staff
- Opportunity for campus-wide advertising at a Tier 1 research institution, home to over 50,000 students and over 3,000 teaching faculty
- Name recognition among students and faculty from the #10 engineering program and the #10 computer science program in the country, along with students interested in data science coming from unique backgrounds, including over 12,000 students in the College of Natural Sciences and over 7,800 students in the Cockerell School of Engineering

COFFEE CHATS WITH WOMEN IN STEM A monthly forum highlighting one woman's experience in industry or academia with casual conversation over coffee and bagels

- Intimate discussion among ~15 people in attendance
- Opportunity for sponsors to build lasting relationships with and recruit graduate students and postdocs

NETWORKING SOCIAL HOUR Events geared towards strengthening professional networks and learning about job opportunities in Austin

- Reach a broad, interdisciplinary community of scientists including engineers, computer scientists, and individuals interested in data science as a whole
- Direct interaction between AWIS at UT members and professional women in science in the Austin area

COMMUNITY OUTREACH Chance to be involved in community service events

- Opportunity for advertising off-campus, and support for the future generation of scientists

MENTORING PROGRAM Currently being established for members to form meaningful relationships and gain one-on-one help with professional development

We were founded in the Spring of 2019 and have demonstrated tremendous potential for growth and support of the community. To find out more please visit our:
